British Columbia Certified Organic

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA)

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) connects people to the food they eat, the land it comes from and the farmers that grow it. When you participate in our harvest box program, you buy a share of our harvest. Your support helps us to provide healthy organic food, grown sustainably but more than that, you contribute to our educational programs and our leadership in environmental education and stewardship.

Cost - $500 - Average value of box each box: at least $25 of vegetables
Each week you pick up your box from the farm, you can choose Wednesday evening or Saturday morning
Earthwise produce is certified organic!
